

Transferring deep learning techniques from Optical to SAR

Gohar Dashyan, PRELIGENS

Preligens has extensive experience on developing object detection and image segmentation techniques on very high resolution optical imagery. During this presentation, we will present our work on transferring these techniques to SAR imagery and the knowledge we have gained from it. This includes detection of buildings and vessels, classification of ships and military vehicles and change detection.